Preface

The Clearinghouse is pleased to publish the Annual Index to Volume 25 (May 1991 to April 1992). In addition to its standard sections, this Index has been redesigned to ease reading and facilitate research. Readers are reminded to use the Index in conjunction with the Cumulative Index to Volumes 1-17, the Annual Indexes to Volumes 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, and 24, and the LSC Data Base maintained on the Westlaw™ computer system for comprehensive research in Clearinghouse case files. The Clearinghouse also provides library assistance and/or free Electronic File Room (EFR) searches of the Clearinghouse internal computer system.

➡ Electronic File Room Searches

Clearinghouse cases in Volume 25 are all on-line and searchable at the Clearinghouse. To request an EFR search, call toll-free 1-800-621-3256. You will receive a copy of the abstracts retrieved and copies of the documents clearly on point. Please specify that you are requesting a free search, since the toll-free number is also used for Westlaw™ and Dialog™ requests, which are not free, and for other document orders. (Programs not funded by the Legal Services Corporation or the Administration on Aging, and certain Protection and Advocacy-funded programs must pay the usual photocopying and postage charges for documents described on the order forms found in the back of this Index.)

- ✓ Please note that readers who are researching issues concerning social security and SSI disability benefits should also look under the headings—Supplemental Security Income, Social Security programs, and Disability. During part of this volume year, the Clearinghouse indexed social security and SSI disability cases under Disability. This, however, was only a temporary change; after several readers said that they preferred social security and SSI disability cases under Social Security/SSI, we decided to resume publishing and indexing abstracts in this area under Social Security/SSI.

✂ Special Thanks

John Blaser, then Associate Editor of the Review and other Clearinghouse publications, edited this 25th Clearinghouse Review Annual Index. Special thanks are due to John for his extra efforts in making the Index as accurate and as comprehensive as possible. Producing the Index is a year-round project. Thanks are also due to Gretchen Schroeder for editorial assistance.

✉ Suggestions Welcome

Our annual indexes are crucial to your legal research, and they make all of the monthly issues of the Review more useful. If you have suggestions or comments on ways to improve the Index, please write or call the Clearinghouse.

The Clearinghouse

How to Use This Index

This Index represents a topical categorization of all Case Developments, Advance Sheet Highlights, articles, columns, and Federal Register Highlights that have been reported in the Clearinghouse Review during its 25th volume year, May 1991 to April 1992.

Alphabetical Case Table

The Case Table lists alphabetically all cases reported in either the Case Developments or Advance Sheet Highlights section of the Review. For each case, the following information is provided:

- ① the Clearinghouse Number, in brackets;
- ② any case citations or date of decision, reported with the most recent citation last; and
- ③ the page number(s) of the Review on which the case appears.

C. v. Cleveland, No. 88-H-1170-N (M.D. Ala.
May 30, 1991); ② No. 88-H-1170-N
(M.D. Ala. Dec. 1, 1991),
① [45,438] ③ 278

Topical Indexes

The Topical Index classifies all cases reported in the Case Developments & Advance Sheet Highlights sections of the Review. Most headings contain ④ See and See also references directing readers to other major subject headings for information on that topic.

Within each major heading, the cases listed are divided into ⑤ subtopics, often spanning two or more levels or categories representing the most specific issues covered by that case.

- ✓ Users are advised to search the Topical Index for the names of cases that involve specific research topics, and then to refer to the Case Table for more detailed citation information.

The Articles and Columns Author Index lists articles and columns published in the Review by ⑥ author name and by ⑦ topic. The Articles and Columns Topical Index also contains ⑧ short summaries of all articles and columns indexed. The Federal Register Highlights Topical Index lists items under major headings only. Items are listed alphabetically within each category and include the page numbers on which the items appear in the Review.

For comprehensive research, readers are advised to use this Index in conjunction with the Cumulative Index to volumes 1-17 of the Clearinghouse Review and the Annual Indexes to volumes 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, and 24.

ATTORNEYS/ LEGAL SERVICES

A Short Review of Poverty Law Advocacy

by Alan W. Houseman 834

This article provides a brief review of major trends in poverty law advocacy from the inception of legal aid to the present. It explains why the role of the legal services attorney has shifted from that of a litigator of constitutional issues in federal court to that of an advocate for the poor in legislative and administrative proceedings.

Alien Eligibility Under LSC Restrictions

by Charles Wheeler 892

The Legal Services Corporation (LSC) restricts the use of LSC funds for the representation of certain categories of aliens, but far more aliens are currently eligible for legal services than were eligible when the restrictions were first imposed; this article summarizes current restrictions.

Alternative Funding Mechanisms for Legal Services Providers

by Michael B. Glomb and Jane Hardin 484

Legal services programs have become increasingly creative in developing new funding sources, particularly state and local governments. This article discusses some of the existing state and local funding mechanisms and addresses planning and program management issues that arise in implementing these new approaches.

Melkonyan v. Sullivan:

What Hath the Supreme Court Wrought?

by Gill Deford 663

On June 10, 1991, the Supreme Court issued the third in a series of opinions [Sullivan v. Hudson; Sullivan v. Finkelstein; and Melkonyan v. Sullivan] considering the relationship between the Social Security Act review provision, section 405(g), and the Equal Access to Justice Act (EAJA). The EAJA has become largely the domain of advocates for social security claimants; at present, 90 percent of EAJA petitions are filed against the Department of HHS. The relationship between section 405(g) and the EAJA is therefore a critical one for advocates of the elderly and disabled, which renders the Supreme Court's trilogic foray into the area all the more important.

Of Mice and Mail: Managing LegalAid/Net

by John Paul Kemp 1327

This article provides an introduction to LegalAid/Net, a powerful tool that offers legal services advocates both improved legal research and access to a community of ideas and strategies.

Practical Uses of Computers in Legal Services

by John Paul Kemp 98

Although computers can do many things, they are not the answer to all problems in legal services. Computers should do three things in an office. They should increase the quality of work, increase the quantity of work, and free staff to spend more time with clients and advocacy. This article discusses some practical uses of computers to achieve these goals in legal services offices.

The Clearinghouse and Its Services

by the National Clearinghouse for Legal Services 855

The National Clearinghouse for Legal Services provides informational support services to legal services attorneys and paralegals through the Clearinghouse Review and other publications, the Clearinghouse Order Department, and the Clearinghouse Computer-Assisted Legal Research (CALR) Project. The attached article provides a comprehensive summary that will tell you how best to use these many services.

The Role of National Support in Legal Services 842

This article provides a broad overview of the uses of national legal services support centers, which are essential sources of guidance and assistance in the practice of poverty law.

We Are State Support by Elvera Anselmo and Randall Chapman . . . 844

This article provides a brief history and an overview of state support centers and the integral role that they play in the legal services community.

BANKRUPTCY

Bankruptcy for Beginners by Joanna B. George 810

Understanding bankruptcy is essential for meeting clients' needs. This article outlines the three basic bankruptcy chapters, Chapters 7, 12, and 13.

CIVIL PROCEDURE/ ADMINISTRATIVE LAW

Effective Utilization of Pretrial Depositions for Legal Services Litigation by Curry First 822

Traditionally, pretrial depositions have not been widely used by legal services attorneys as an offensive litigation tactic. This article seeks to change this practice by urging attorneys to develop a professional understanding of deposition rules and techniques and by discussing the advantages of their use.

CIVIL RIGHTS

An Antidiscrimination Legal Construct That Disadvantages Working Women of Color by Judith A. Winston 403

This article focuses on the status of women of color in the workplace, on the largely ignored phenomenon of multiple discrimination against women of color, and on the intersection of race and gender in employment law.

Sex Discrimination Topics: Employment and Education by Ellen Vargyas 391

This article will address the implications of two key areas of federal sex discrimination law for a legal services practice: discrimination against women in employment and in education.

CONSUMER

Consumer and Energy Law Developments During 1991 by the National Consumer Law Center 1107

This article summarizes developments in consumer and energy law. Consumer law developments discussed in this article include the Federal Debt Collection Procedures Act, usury after deregulation of interest rates, high-rate lending in minority neighborhoods, and changes to the Bankruptcy Code that affect low-income consumers. Energy law developments that are discussed include LIHEAP, the Low Income Weatherization Assistance Program (WAP), and rural electric cooperatives.

Energy Assistance Plans: Alternative Distribution Methods for LIHEAP Benefits

Good Business, Good Government, Good Social Policy by Roger Colton and Margot Saunders . . . 1342

This article describes the methods available for the distribution of Low Income Home Energy Assistance Program (LIHEAP) funds. These methods include the Percentage of Income Payment Plan (PIPP) and several actual-cost based models, such as the LIHEAP Lifeline Rate Plan, the Outlier Buy-Down Program, and the Actual Cost Crisis Program.

National Consumer Law Center: Who We Are and What We Do by the National Consumer Law Center 1454

This column describes the National Consumer Law Center, the services and new manuals that it offers, and the Center's sponsorship of the Massachusetts Bankruptcy Shelter Preservation Clinic.

DISABILITY

Determining Disability for Children: Implementation of Sullivan v. Zebley

Part I: The New Sequential Evaluation Process—An Overview

by Julie Clark 246

This is the first of three articles that examine the new children's SSI regulations. These regulations, published by SSA on February 11, 1991, revise the disability evaluation rules for children, in compliance with the United States Supreme Court's decision in Sullivan v. Zebley. Part I provides an overview of the new sequential evaluation process and examines concerns about the second step of that process—the severity step.

Part II: The Individualized Functional Assessment

by Julie Clark 494

This is the second of three articles examining the new children's SSI regulations. This article describes the individualized functional assessment, used at the fourth step of the sequential evaluation process to determine whether a child's impairments are comparable to impairments that would disable an adult.

Part III: Medical and Functional Equivalence

by Julie Clark 979

This article examines the interim final rules that revised the disability determination process for children's SSI disability claims pursuant to the Supreme Court's ruling in Zebley v. Sullivan and analyzes the criteria that SSA uses to decide whether a child's impairment meets or equals a listed impairment.

Durable Powers of Attorney: An Analysis of State Statutes

by Lori A. Stiegel, Sally Balch Hurme, and Michael Stone 690

This article discusses the development of general durable power of attorney (DPA) statutes, the common and unusual provisions contained in those laws, and the concerns that they raise. It also examines the effect of guardianship on a DPA.

Medical Treatment Rights of Older Persons and Persons with Disabilities

by the National Legal Center for the Medically Dependent and Disabled 1203

Developments in medical treatment rights of disabled persons include implementation of the Americans with Disabilities Act, passage of federal legislation requiring health care facilities to provide patients with information on advance directives, and several cases involving the refusal of life-sustaining treatment.

PASS: SSI's Plan for Achieving Self Support

by James R. Sheldon, Jr. 962

For individuals with disabilities, SSI's Plan for Achieving Self Support (PASS) offers a way out of poverty by allowing them to move from dependence on benefits to financial independence. Using practical examples, this article describes how to assist a client in formulating a PASS proposal.

Protecting the Food Stamps of Zebley Children

by Mary Ellen Natale 517

This article discusses ways to prevent awards received as a result of Sullivan v. Zebley from reducing the food stamp benefits of disabled children.

Representing Individuals with Disabilities in Securing Social Security and Supplemental Security Income Disability Benefits

by Eileen P. Sweeney 860

An advocate representing a person who is disabled in securing disability benefits needs to know the basic social security and SSI rules. This article describes the eligibility requirements, the statutory and regulatory rules defining disability, how disability determinations are made, and the appeals process.

Sheltering Zebley Retroactive SSI Benefits in Trust

by Sterling L. Ross, Jr. 1335

As a result of the Supreme Court's decision in Sullivan v. Zebley, many disabled children will receive substantial awards of retroactive SSI benefits; this article examines the use of trusts to protect award recipients from being disqualified from continued SSI benefits, and the management of such awards.

The Relationship Between Medicaid and Social Security Administration Disability Determinations: An Introduction for Advocates

by Michael C. Parks 1566

This column reviews the relevant federal regulatory, statutory, and policy provisions that affect the interplay between Medicaid and SSA disability determinations and provides a basis for more detailed examination and advocacy.

The Rights of the Disabled in the Food Stamp Program

by Eve H. Shapiro and David A. Super 68

Recognizing the special challenges that elderly and disabled people face in obtaining a nutritious diet, the Food Stamp Act provides them with preferential treatment. However, narrow regulatory interpretations by the Department of Agriculture deny full benefits to many of these food stamp recipients. This article highlights the areas in which disabled persons encounter problems in receiving the full benefits to which they are entitled.

The Zebley Class Rules

by Joseph Manes 511

This article summarizes the rules for readjudicating the Zebley class of children as promulgated in the Stipulation and Order issued by the United States District Court for the Eastern District of Pennsylvania on March 14, 1991.

DOMESTIC RELATIONS

Child Support Enforcement: An Introduction

by Paula Roberts 868

This article provides an introductory exploration of the child support enforcement system, its importance to low-income clients, and the remaining inadequacies of the system.

Child Support Enforcement in 1991

by Paula Roberts 1098

The focus in child support enforcement continues to be on proper implementation of the Family Support Act of 1988. This article discusses various requirements imposed on IV-D agencies, including timely provision of services, timely payment of collections, pass through issues, and the new child support guidelines.

Enforcing Medical Support Orders

by Paula Roberts and Kristen Tosh 1562

This is the second of three articles discussing child support enforcement systems. It describes the process for enforcing court orders for health insurance.

Family Law Developments

by Joan Pennington 1158

Although legislatures have responded to the needs of battered women and their children, judicial developments in the areas of custody and divorce have been mixed. Mediation and joint custody continue to be exposed as detrimental to women and children, and, disappointingly, child support enforcement is still a national disgrace.

Securing Medical Insurance Coverage for Children Through the Child Support Enforcement System

by Paula Roberts 1436

This article discusses why establishing children's rights to medical insurance in all support orders is essential, and what legal services practitioners should be doing to secure medical insurance coverage orders.

The Importance of Family Law to Low-Income Clients and Their Advocates

by Sheila James Kuehl 828

Family law decisions about child and spousal support can have a significant impact on the public benefits of low-income people. This article examines the intersection of family law and public benefits programs.

The Right to Notice and a Hearing Regarding Child Support Collections

by Sherry Leiwant 2

Even though Congress in 1984 clearly directed that AFDC families should benefit from the states' collection of their child support, both the policies of the states and the federal government and the states' collection practices have often deprived families of support to which they are arguably entitled.

Woman Battering: A Major Cause of Homelessness

by Joan Zorza 420

Much of the literature on homelessness never mentions woman battering as a cause of homelessness. Yet, the reality is that battered women and their children compose a significant proportion of occupants of homeless shelters. This article argues that advocates must recognize domestic violence as a major cause of homelessness; outlines the extent of the problem; and suggests ways to fight domestic abuse and to help prevent the homelessness that often results from such abuse.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Community Economic Development at Work: Linking Child Care and Development

by the National Economic Development and Law Center 1120

This article focuses on child care, a new substantive priority area of the National Economic Development and Law Center, and discusses the community benefits of a child care development strategy by community-based organizations.

Representing Community-Based Development Corporations in a Legal Services Program

by John M. Little 1001

This article is a case study of how Legal Services of Greater Miami, Inc., has represented St. John Community Development Corporation in developing a project in the Overtown community of Miami. The author describes the project's growing pains, housing strategy, funding struggles, and future building plans.

EDUCATION

Changing Educational Outcomes for Young Children from Low-Income Families

by Kathleen Boundy 375

Children of low-income families have unique educational needs. This article covers the legal tools that federal law provides to address these needs and discusses the need for a systemic approach to advocacy for all low-income children.

Developments in Education Law

by the Center for Law and Education 1128

This article discusses the rights of students with disabilities, school discipline cases, and school financing systems. It also reviews changes in vocational education and early intervention services for infants and toddlers.

EMPLOYMENT

Employment Law Developments

by the National Employment Law Project . . 1141

Litigation during the past year addressed many areas of employment law. Some of the developments discussed in this article concern discrimination law, including the Supreme Court's decision on "fetal protection" policies, labor law, including limits on drug testing in the workplace, unemployment compensation, and the reemployment rights of reservists.

Kids and Careers: How Three Legal Services Employees Cope

by Gary Baldwin 255

Questionable Rule Denies Food Stamps to Self-Employed Workers

by David A. Super and Marilyn Katz 93

The regulations of the USDA regarding food stamps deny self-employed households recognition of a large portion of their cost of doing business: capital costs. This article analyzes this regulation and suggests possible remedies for legal services advocates.

The Case Against the Thrifty Food Plan as the Basis for the Food Component of the AFDC Standard of Need

by Mary Ellen Natale and David A. Super . . . 86

The "standard of need" is important in determining eligibility for, and benefits under, the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) Program. This article examines the "thrifty food plan," one method that states commonly rely upon to compute food costs, and summarizes the research literature demonstrating the inadequacy of this method.

Health Care for the Poor

by the National Health Law Program 1171

Health law developments in 1991 included implementation of several OBRA-90 Medicaid and Medicare provisions expanding coverage, proposed cutbacks in state programs in response to recessionary fiscal constraints, and renewed interest in universal health coverage.

Health Care Rights of the Poor: An Introduction

by Michele Melden, Michael Parks, and Laura Rosenthal 896

This article provides an overview of the primary sources for health care—Medicaid, Medicare, private insurance, and state and county indigent care programs—and examines protection of access to health care provided by the Hill-Burton program, emergency medical treatment, and civil rights.

Lead Poisoning Problems Challenged on Many Front

by Jane Perkins 13

Lead poisoning is one of the most serious and widespread environmental diseases affecting children in the United States. The attention now being paid to lead toxicity is welcomed by advocates, who saw interest in the problem wain during the 1980s after federal categorical grants and reporting requirements were terminated. This article describes recent activities surrounding the lead poisoning epidemic.

Managed Care: How to Challenge Inadequate Access for Medicaid Beneficiaries

by Michele Melden 228

Many states and HCFA are vigorously advocating for increased managed care to counter Medicaid budget shortfalls. This article describes how Medicaid recipients' access to health care in managed care plans has worsened and suggests ways to address inadequate access.

Medicaid and the Elderly Poor—A Second Look at the Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act: Transfer of Assets and Spousal Impoverishment

by Jeanne Finberg and Patricia Nemore . . . 1316

The Medicare Catastrophic Coverage Act of 1988 and its amendments made significant changes in the Medicaid program for elderly persons. This article reexamines the spousal impoverishment and transfer of assets rules, and addresses issues of implementation and statutory construction that affect poor seniors.

Medigap Insurance: Consumers Receive Greater Protection But Still Shoulder Burden of Health Costs

by Naomi Karp and Bess M. Brewer 670

This article discusses the limitations of Medigap coverage, Medigap market abuse, minimum Medigap coverage standards set forth in the Baucus amendment, state efforts at regulation, and changes made by OBRA-90.

Nursing Home Demands for Deposits and Prepayments from Medicaid and Medicare Patients

by Patricia Nemore 1577

Many nursing homes frequently demand thousands of dollars as a condition of admission or readmission. This article describes how advocates can effectively challenge these practices under provisions of the federal Medicare and Medicaid laws and under state law.

Outstationing of Medicaid Eligibility Workers Becomes Mandatory

by Jane Perkins and Glennis Gold 1347

This article describes recent legislation that requires states to "outstation" Medicaid eligibility workers at locations other than welfare offices, HCFA's interpretation of the legislation, and states' progress in complying with the requirements.

Using Medicaid to Prevent Infant Mortality

by Molly McNulty and William R. Kincaid . . . 349

This article argues that lack of access to medical care causes thousands of infant deaths every year, as well as disabilities and maternal deaths, and that these tragedies, which fall so heavily upon low-income families, are largely preventable. Medicaid, as both a public health insurance program and as the chief support of health care providers to the poor, can play a powerful role in campaigns to reduce infant mortality.

HOUSING

Establishing a Right to Housing: A General Guide

by Florence Wagman Roisman 203

People who work full-time should have access to decent, affordable housing. This article discusses different aspects of advocacy to secure a right to decent housing, including ways of persuading people to establish such a right, constitutional campaigns, state and local laws, AFDC laws, and state mental health and SSI laws.

Handling a Drug-Related Eviction from Public Housing

by Kay Y. Young 793

Representing tenants faced with drug-related evictions is a very controversial issue that legal services programs must address. This article discusses how to develop an office policy on handling such cases, how to interview the client, possible defenses, and issues to consider regarding a jury trial.

Homeless Women and Children

by Alice Bussiere, Henry Freedman, Dan Manning, Lisa Mihaly, and James Morales 431

The special problems of homeless women and children require legal services advocates to use their expertise in a variety of substantive areas. This article surveys new developments in child welfare, public assistance, and housing law, as well as innovative approaches that cut across substantive areas in an effort to provide lasting solutions to the problems of homeless women and their children.

Housing Rights of Older Persons

by Kim Savage and Stephanie Edelstein . . . 648

During the past year, attorneys and other advocates have reported a significant increase in the number of older persons who have been denied admission to or evicted from rental housing due to their perceived inability to live independently. We also continue to see community opposition to group living arrangements for the elderly. This article will discuss recent developments in this area, with particular emphasis on the rights of the frail elderly.

Introduction to HUD Conventional Public Housing, Section 8 Existing Housing, Voucher, and Subsidized Housing Programs

Part I: Conventional Public Housing

by Fred Fuchs 782

This article is the first part of a two-part introduction to federal housing programs. Part I covers conventional public housing, identifying necessary resource materials for housing advocates and describing tenant eligibility, waiting list preferences, rent calculation, evictions, and grievance procedures.

Part II: Section 8 Existing Housing, Voucher, and Subsidized Housing

by Fred Fuchs 990

This is the second part of a two-part article on federal housing programs that summarizes the programs for new advocates. This portion outlines the Section 8 Existing Housing, Voucher, and Subsidized Housing Programs.

by Rebecca Chiao 1196

One of the programs established by the Immigration Act of 1990 is the Family Unity Program, which provides provisional legal immigration status to the spouses and unmarried children of amnesty aliens. This article describes the eligibility requirements for the programs and the forms that need to be completed by applicants.

JUVENILES

Child Poverty and Public Transfers in International Perspective

by Timothy J. Casey 444

The United States leads other rich countries in child poverty rates because it trails those countries in government cash assistance to families. This article examines the impact of other national social welfare programs on child poverty, and suggests that some valuable lessons can be learned through an international perspective.

Child Poverty in America

by James D. Weill 336

In recent decades, as the economy has grown and social insurance programs have shielded much of the population from hardship, poverty among adults, including elderly adults, has dropped precipitously. But child poverty rates remain high—twice as high as adult rates. This article argues that child poverty in America in the 1990s is not inevitable, that the nation can no longer afford to have such widespread child poverty—economically, socially, or morally—and that the nation can afford to eliminate child poverty.

Youth Law Developments

by the National Center for Youth Law 1294

The past year has seen substantial successes in litigation targeting systemic inadequacies in foster care and children's protective services; meanwhile, children's advocates continued to work toward full implementation of both expanded SSI eligibility under Zebley and federal laws protecting families with children from housing discrimination.

MENTAL HEALTH

Developments in Mental Disability Law in 1991

by Ira Burnim, Shelley Jackson, Bonnie Milstein, and Beth Pepper 1218

This article shows that, despite the trend toward judicial conservatism, persons with mental disabilities have won important victories in both federal and state courts in 1991.

MIGRANTS

Farmworker Law Developments in 1991

by the Migrant Legal Action Program 1232

• HOW TO USE CLEARINGHOUSE SERVICES •

All of the items in the Case Developments section of the Clearinghouse Review are available to non-LSC funded subscribers for a nominal copying and mailing charge. All you have to do is fill out the order form below, giving the number, letter and title of the item you want.

Many of the articles and case developments that appear in the Review are sent to us by persons in legal services offices who wish to share their work with the rest of the community. We strongly urge readers to send us all case developments of significance. We also encourage people to submit articles for possible publication. Articles should discuss topics of relevance to legal services. We are oriented toward publication of "how-to" articles which will help other legal services attorneys and legal workers in the day-to-day practice of law. Article submissions should be typewritten, double-spaced, with footnotes also double-spaced and placed at the end of the article.

We are interested in your comments, suggestions and/or criticisms of all aspects of the work of the Clearinghouse. Please direct comments to Director, National Clearinghouse for Legal Services, Inc., 407 S. Dearborn, Suite 400, Chicago, IL 60605, (312) 939-3830.

☎ TOLL-FREE CALLS: 1-800-621-3256 Continental U.S., Alaska, Hawaii, Virgin Islands and Canada.
